Johns Hopkins Family Serving the Community
Our students, faculty and staff volunteer to meet a broad array of challenges.

Standing with our Community

The East Baltimore Community Affairs (EBCA) Office represents the multi-institutional East Baltimore campus in planning, implementing and coordinating comprehensive approaches to community issues.

By interfacing with a broad range of nonprofits and local community organizations, EBCA works to improve health, education, housing, public safety, employment, and economic development within the East Baltimore community, and plays a critical role in a wide variety of community and economic development projects, all with the ultimate goal of improving quality of life in East Baltimore.

Spending Time with the Community

Fact: Baltimore City High School students spend two, five-week sessions in Government and Community Affairs (GCA) participating in an immersion style internship.

July

Summer Jobs

“This internship was my first job. It taught me professionalism, writing skills and time management, and the mock resume and interviews we did were incredibly helpful.”

- Marquelle Miller, former Summer Jobs student, current College Leader for the Summer Jobs program at GCA

August

School Rejuvenations

“I’ve been with Hopkins for almost 20 years and Friday was the first I’ve ever taken advantage of the volunteer work. After leaving the school, I was very exhausted but touched all at the same time, and plan on volunteering more regularly.”

- Wanda Adams, Johns Hopkins volunteer

September

Back to School

“I just want to thank you for your continued support and generous donation. I just can’t thank you enough for all that you did in recognition of the children living in East Baltimore. Your ears should have been ringing yesterday because I gave you many praises.”

- Janice Gentry, Community Activist

October

Move It! Youth Nutrition and Exercise

Move It! shows students that eating healthy can be delicious and that working out isn’t a chore.

November

Turkeys and Trimmings

“Thank you for thinking of our residents at this special time. For some, this will be the only opportunity to be able to traditionally celebrate this season of thanks.”

- Karen Johnson, East Baltimore Development, Inc.

December

Holiday Gift Giving

“‘We are overwhelmed at the generosity of the folks at Johns Hopkins and so very grateful. There will be lots of happy children (and Moms) in Baltimore this Christmas thanks to all of you!’”

- Sister Pat McCaughlin, executive director of the Caroline Center

Fact: Over 250 projects completed since 2010 to prepare East Baltimore schools for the forthcoming school year including painting, gardening, cleaning and organizing.

Fact: Johns Hopkins EBCA donates over 1,400 backpacks filled with age-appropriate school supplies to East Baltimore students each year.

Fact: 115 students visited the JHU Homewood campus to learn the benefits of healthy lifestyles.

Fact: Since 2011, 854 students have visited the Johns Hopkins Broadway Medical Campus to learn about the life and legacy of Henrietta Lacks.

January
Henrietta Lacks School Visit

“The students really appreciated the perspective from the team at Johns Hopkins and it absolutely shifted some of the opinions the students had about the book.”
- Louise Pistell, Teacher

February
Black History Month Competition

City Springs Middle School students won first prize for their work representing the Harlem Renaissance. The students’ artwork is an arrangement of twelve wire and plaster sculptures, made to look like Billie Holiday, her musicians, and the dancers at a nightclub.

March
Science Day

As students rotate through various Johns Hopkins labs, they are introduced to different science genres via observational or hands-on instruction.

April
Creative Connections

“In terms of creative programming, this was one of the most unique and special concerts performed in the City!”
- Nicholas Cohen, Baltimore Symphony Orchestra

May
Science Fair

City Springs Elementary & Middle School, winners of the 2015 Community Science Fair, presented their winning projects to the Johns Hopkins Executive Committee.

June
Science Camp

“Now chemistry is my favorite!”
- an excited student

Fact: Since 2013, Johns Hopkins EBCA has partnered with the Creative Alliance each year to display artwork produced by East Baltimore students depicting black history in Baltimore City.

Ongoing Programs

In addition to annual programming, Johns Hopkins East Baltimore Community Affairs supports ongoing programs. Two examples of ongoing programs are Days of Taste and The Patterson Park Walking Group.

Days of Taste

Days of Taste is a discovery-based program that brings together chefs, farmers and area students to understand the science of how their food gets from farm to table. Students learn about agriculture, and the chemistry of balancing tastes and textures, and basic nutrition principles for healthy eating.

Patterson Park Walking Group

The Patterson Park Walking Group is a collaborative program offered by Friends of Patterson Park, East Baltimore Community Affairs and Johns Hopkins Bayview Community Relations. The group meets twice a week for a one-hour fitness-walk through Patterson Park led by an East Baltimore community member. Participants are offered health screenings at the start and conclusion of each six-week session.
