SMOKERS NEEDED FOR RESEARCH STUDY

Healthy volunteers, males and females, age 18-59 who currently smoke are needed for a brain imaging study of short-term memory.

Participation involves 1-2 visits, each lasting 1-5 hours. Tests include imaging the brain in an MRI scanner, memory and motor tasks. Also volunteers may have to provide a small blood sample.

People who complete the study will receive pay up to $140 and a free picture of your brain.
