

Johns Hopkins School of Medicine Graduate Programs – Admissions Information for the MS in Anatomy Education

Program Admissions Details:

Students in this one-year full time program work on the East Baltimore campus. Tuition at the Johns Hopkins Medical School for full-time graduate students is currently $59,700. However, each student admitted to this program will receive a guaranteed scholarship from the medical school, reducing tuition to $41,790, payable prior to entry into the program. Information on financial aid is available here. The University does not provide housing, though the housing office will provide advice.

Some students in this program are covered by Federal training grants. Others applied for individual scholarships and received funding. Applicants are encouraged (but not required) to apply for funding before beginning their training. Information about funding opportunities for U.S. students (including NSF GFRP and F31 grants) can be found here.

Program Details:

The application for this program is open from 9/1/2022 to 2/1/2023. In the time before the application is open, applicants may log in and begin their applications. The application can only be submitted in the period when the application is open.

Academic History:

Applicants will need to list all colleges and universities they attended. A transcript will need to be uploaded from each school attended.

Admissions requirements:

- Applicants are not required to take the GRE for this program.
- Applicants must submit a one-page personal statement indicating the basis of their interest in graduate study and their career objectives. Applicants should include a discussion of any research experience they have had.
- Applicants must identify two people who are familiar with the applicant's work and provide contact info for these references. The contact info will be entered into the application, and SOM will contact the references and ask them to submit letters of recommendation on behalf of the applicant.
- Students admitted to this program are not eligible for F or J immigration sponsorship.

Getting to know you:

- Parts of the Admissions application collect information for mandatory reporting. These parts may ask applicants to select a pre-set category for gender, race or ethnicity. Other sections of the application allow applicants to share more details about how they choose to describe themselves.
- Application Fee waivers may be given to applicants based on family income (U.S. citizens only). The term family is determined by your definition. Families may involve adoptions, separations, and many other variations.

Admissions fees:

- An admissions application fee of $115 dollars is required and must be submitted using a credit card. In some cases, this fee will cover applications to more than one program. Fee waivers are available. For a complete description of the fee waiver process, please see the Application Fees and Fee Waiver Instructions on the On-Campus Admissions website. Fee waivers are only available for U.S. citizens.

Application status website:

- Once their application is submitted, applicants may follow its progress on the Application Status page. This page can be accessed upon completion of the application. The status page has the most current information.

Admission timeline:

- Review of applications will begin immediately after the application deadline. The program will begin reviewing applications when they are received, so submitting your application before the deadline may be helpful.
- Letters describing acceptance, wait list status, or rejection will be sent by email. This information will also be available on the Application status website. Applicants selected for acceptance must choose to accept or reject the offer by April 15. On April 15, all accepted offers become binding.
- The Anatomy Education program only accepts students for fall matriculation.

Applicant survey:

- Applicants will receive a survey during the third week of April (after April 15) where they can provide feedback about their experience with the Admissions process. The survey will also ask questions about the disability status of applicants.

Upon acceptance:

- Accepted students will undergo a criminal background check.
- Accepted students must submit official transcripts to the School of Medicine Registrar. This may be in the form of a digital transcript, which is submitted through a transcript service approved by the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine Registrar. The approved transcript service for international students is WES. Transcripts may also be mailed directly from the Accepted student's school to the School of Medicine Registrar. Detailed instructions will be provided upon acceptance.

Communicating with the program:

- Anatomy Education Program contact: anatomyed@jhmi.edu
- General questions: GradAdmissions@jhmi.edu

- For more info, please see the Anatomy Education Program website: <https://fae.johnshopkins.edu/education/masters-program/>