ART BRIGADE		Baltimore, Baltimore City	JHU Center for Social Concern 3400 N Charles Street Baltimore, MD 21218 Email: jhu.art.afterschool@gmail.com	21218	More Information	Children	Art Brigade aims to provide a fun and creative artistic outlet to children at the Carmelo Anthony Youth Development Center and POWER House Community Center (both part of the Living Classrooms Foundation). Working through a variety of medium, we guide students through the creative process of starting a project, using personal creativity for designs, and finishing a project. Through art, we aim to provide for students a positive lens through which they view their surroundings. We believe that the skills learned through creation, especially at such a young age, can aid in students' development and broaden their ways of thinking about their neighborhood, city, and wider world. Our organization is part of an after-school program established by the Living Classrooms Foundation. We volunteer four days each week, supplementing creative enrichment to the programming offered by Living Classrooms.	*	X

Science and math classes that are disconnected from first-hand experience can discourage students. We believe that the learning experience can be more effective if the students are given a more hands-on approach. Every week, we go to an after-school program facility founded by NBA basketball star, Carmelo Anthony, to lead science experiments and to do demonstrations for students between grades 2 and 5. We take their ambition and try to cultivate it into an interest in the sciences. We use the opportunity to introduce the children into potential future careers they may have otherwise overlooked and instill in them a belief that they can achieve goals in the sciences.	*	X

When dealing with cancer, most organizations focus on the patient for obvious reasons. We, at Camp Kesem, focus on the children of the patients because they have to deal with the mental and emotional stress of cancer at home without having access to resources to help them get through a parent's struggle. These kids mature well before their time and forget that they are just kids sometimes. Therefore, we partner with hospitals, clinics, cancer support groups to provide a one-week camp for the kids so that they can get away from the stress of cancer at home and enjoy being regular kids for once.	*	X						*	X

The goal of JHU Circle K is to improve the lives of people in the Baltimore community and throughout the world. We do this through service projects with the Children's House of the Johns Hopkins Hospital and Club 1111, and by fundraising for various causes such as to provide Christmas gifts to under-served populations and to combat maternal and neonatal tetanus through Unicef, also known as The Eliminate Project. Circle K has historically provided help to other organizations both on and off campus such as Relay for Life, Maryland SPCA, and Hampden Kiwanis in an effort to assist where there is the most need. We believe that doing a little good all the time can produce large effects as time goes on	*	X

COMMUNITY AGING IN PLACE—ADVANCING BETTER LIVING FOR ELDERLS (CAPABLE)		Baltimore, Baltimore City	Johns Hopkins University School of Nursing 525 N. Wolfe Street, Baltimore, MD 21205 Phone: 410-955-4766	21205	More Information	Seniors	The Community Aging in Place—Advancing Better Living for Elders (CAPABLE) pilot is a client-centered home-based intervention to increase mobility, function-ality, and capacity to “age in place” for low-income older adults. CAPABLE is comprised of an occupational therapist intervention, a client-centered nurse intervention and safety and access handyman services. Each service synergistically builds on the others by increasing the participants’ bio-psycho-functional capacity to function at home. This is theorized to avert costly health utilization by increasing medication management, problem solving ability, strength, balance, nutrition, and home safety, while decreasing isolation, depression, and fall risk. The goal of the pilot is to assess feasibility, titrate intervention dose, and understand tri-service coordination.				*	X	X	X	*	X		*		X	X
