

Research study that may help U.S.A military veterans with amputations from Iraq and Afghanistan

Individuals with normal, healthy skin are needed to donate skin samples as part of research in the Department of Dermatology. We hope that information from this study will help with problems like skin break-down in our patients with amputations and prosthetics.

Study volunteers must meet the following criteria:

- ✓ Be age 18-65
- ✓ In good health
- ✓ Willing to come in for multiple visits over 10 months and undergo a lab test (one time)

Compensation for time and travel available up to $400

Funded by the Armed Forces Institute for Regenerative Medicine and National Institute of Arthritis and Musculoskeletal and Skin Diseases

If interested, please contact us:

410-502-SKIN
ctrep@jhmi.edu

JOHNS HOPKINS
M E D I C I N E

Luis Garza, M.D., Ph.D., Principal Investigator
IRB Protocol Number: NA_00068684