Postdoctoral Trainees: Opportunity to Practice Interviewing Skills

The Washington-Frederick-Baltimore Trainee Speakers Bureau \(WFBT-SB\) is a networking initiative to provide advanced students and postdoctoral trainees with opportunities to present their work to a wider audience outside their current host institute. The network consists of volunteer contacts at several institutes of the region, who can assist trainees in the broad area of cancer and developmental cell signaling with the identification of host laboratories/departments for seminars to practice their presentation and also interview skills in preparation for their next career step.

Not limited to individuals interested in cancer research*
