Palliative Medicine Program Position: Advanced Practice Nurse

The Palliative Medicine Program at Johns Hopkins invites applications for an Advanced Practice Nurse. We are seeking Master's Degree prepared candidates with a current registered nursing license. Minimum of 3 years direct patient care experience in palliative care or similar field is preferred.

The successful candidate will have strong clinical skills and enhance our rapidly growing, multi-disciplinary health team. We provide comprehensive palliative care across the hospital, including inpatient consultation services and outpatient clinics.

We have an active research program, including an RO1 randomized trial of Palliative Care for Phase I drug patients, Scrambler Therapy for neuropathic pain, peri-operative advance care planning, and other interests.
