

THE JOHN E. HOOPES LECTURESHIP IN THE MEDICAL SCIENCES

JOHNS HOPKINS
M E D I C I N E

“Organ Preservation: The End of the Ice Age”

Peter Friend, M.D.

*Professor of Transplantation, University of Oxford
Honorary Consultant Surgeon - Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust, Oxford
Director of the Oxford Transplant Centre, Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust
Fellow of Green Templeton College - University of Oxford*

Thursday, November 19, 2020
7:00 A.M.

Department of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery,
Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine
Zoom Meeting ID: 993 7182 5261
Password: GrandRound

John E. Hoopes, M.D.

John E. Hoopes was born in Boone, Iowa on August 8, 1931. He was awarded a B.A. degree by Rice Institute in 1953 and an M.D. degree by Johns Hopkins University in 1957. Dr. Hoopes' academic career spanned thirty-seven years, thirty of which were dedicated to the Johns Hopkins University. He received two years of residency training at the Johns Hopkins Hospital under Alfred Blalock and then completed his General Surgery training at the University of Mississippi under James D. Hardy. He completed residency training in Plastic Surgery at the University of Virginia under Claude C. Coleman, Jr.

Dr. Hoopes was appointed Chairman of Plastic Surgery at the Washington University School of Medicine at age 36. He was appointed Chief of Plastic Surgery at the Johns Hopkins Hospital at age 38 and was Professor and Chief of Plastic Surgery for twenty years. Dr. Hoopes' clinical practice emphasized head and neck oncology and reconstruction, general plastic reconstructive surgery, cleft lip and palate, and aesthetic surgery. In 1966, he established the first gender identity clinic. In 1971, he established the first full time Ph.D. in research in Plastic Surgery with activities focused upon fundamental aspects of wound healing. He completed a Robert Wood Johnson health policy fellowship in 1980. His bibliography includes 169 papers, 54 book chapters and 3 books. In 1989, he initiated the combined training program in Plastic Surgery with the University of Maryland. He trained 37 individuals, seven of whom are professors and chairmen of Plastic Surgery. His educational philosophy in surgery emphasized integrity, scholarship, and respect for patients, their issues, students and colleagues.

Peter Friend, M.D.

Dr. Friend studied medicine at Cambridge and St Thomas's Hospital and after qualifying trained as a surgeon in London and Cambridge before undertaking a period of research at the University of Cambridge under the supervision of Professor Sir Roy Calne.

In 1988, he was appointed Visiting Assistant Professor of Surgery at Indiana University Medical Center, USA, where he was responsible for initiating a programme of liver transplantation. Dr. Friend returned to the UK in 1989 to take up the post of University Lecturer (honorary consultant) in the University Department of Surgery at Cambridge. He was the Clinical Director of the Cambridge Transplant Unit and also a Fellow and Director of Studies in Medicine at Magdalene College, Cambridge. He has been the Director of the Oxford Transplant Centre at Oxford University since 2000.

Previous Lecturers

1995

Judah Folkman, M.D.
Harvard Medical School

1996

Bruce Ames, Ph.D.
University of California, Berkley

1997

John F. Burke, M.D.
Harvard Medical School

1998-1999

David H. Sachs, M.D.
Harvard Medical School

2000

Marcia Angell, M.D.
New England Journal of Medicine

2002

Louis Ignaro, M.D.
University of California, Los Angeles

2002-2003

Joseph P. Vacanti, M.D.
Harvard Medical School

2003

Maria Siemionow, M.D., Ph.D.
Cleveland Clinic

2004

Michael Longaker, M.D., M.B.A.
Stanford University

2005

Randolph Howes, M.D., Ph.D.
Kentwood, Louisiana

2006

Fu Chan Wei, M.D.
Taipei, Taiwan

2007

Bert Vogelstein, M.D., Ph.D.
Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

2009

Donald D. Trunkey, M.D.
University of Oregon

2010

John Niederhuber, M.D.
National Cancer Institute

2011

Thomas E. Starzl, M.D., Ph.D.
University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine

2012

Anthony Atala, M.D.
Wake Forest Institute for Regenerative Medicine

2013

Drew Pardoll, M.D., Ph.D.
Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

2014

Kathryn J. Wood, DPhil, BSc (Brim)
University of Oxford

2016

Donald E. Ingber, M.D., Ph.D.
Wyss Institute for Biologically Inspired
Engineering,
Harvard University

2017

Peter C. Agre, M.D.
Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

2018

Gregg L. Semenza, M.D., Ph.D.
Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

2019

Jennifer H. Elisseeff, Ph.D.
Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine